The Animo

Cold weather and bleak clouds look over Tanya Bennet and Brenda Brubaker's shoulders to see our Cross Country runners in their first meet.

Each class came out yelling, trying to establish themselves as the best class. When it came to seeing Kenny Bruce get hit with a pie, dignity was forgotten as voices rose singing, "WOMP UP SIDE THE HEAD".

There's nothing like having good times with good friends, even if it's just sitting around after school and talking. Sheila Mack and Keith David enjoy the warm fall weather that lingered until the cold rains finally hit.

If you ever want to become scared, try looking into over a thousand eyes while entertaining at a pep assembly like Brenda Brown does.

Who Are You? What Do You Do?

It seems like ever since you were taught to write, some teacher has given you the assignment to write an essay on "Who am I". Someone in the class always gave a smart remark like, "Who do you think?" Well you thought about it all day and when the time came, your mind went blank as you stared at the white piece of paper. You usually wrote the first thing that came to your mind, even if it was foolish. It was easy then, but the teacher must not have believed you, when the next year rolled around you were told to do it again. As you got older, you became more serious about it, but still thought of it as a pain in the neck, but found yourself wondering just who you were and what was your purpose? Everyone in our school is different in some way. Your ideas and desires make you a totally unique person. So stop trying to be like your favorite idol and start working on your own personality. If you try to be like someone else you will be second best, but you're the best YOU that could ever be written about.

Not knowing that his dream of becoming a queen would come true in just a few minutes, Mr. Webb stares in disgust at the other nominees.

Have you ever seen the seniors so quiet? What is it that holds their interest so long and keeps Loretta Cooper and Lee Firebaugh still?

You never know how a song will go over. Our band can make you love songs like "Moon River" & "Shenandoah". Even our school song, old as it may be, kept in tune with kazoos, sounded better than ever.

Is it possible to bump to our school song? David Goodpasture doesn't think so, so he sits this one out.

GET INVOLVED . . .

Hear the applause? It is for you? When everyone's talking about the new change in the band, don't you feel good knowing that you are in the band? And when the juniors win the spirit stick, don't you like bragging to your little sophomore brother?

Franklin High has several groups that you can join. The classes are groups in themselves.

The sophomores, coming into a new school, didn't understand this class competition bit and made a poor showing at the first assembly. When the time came again, they showed that they can't be "showed up" twice. The juniors are slowly preparing to make 77-78 the best year for Franklin High. The seniors? They're the same as always, putting down the others and planning to make their trip the wildest thing that ever hit. We can only sympathize for the management of Kings Dominion.

You stand out in whatever group that you join. With the wide variety of clubs and sports, you can be anything.

So the next time the applause rings around the auditorium, take a bow.

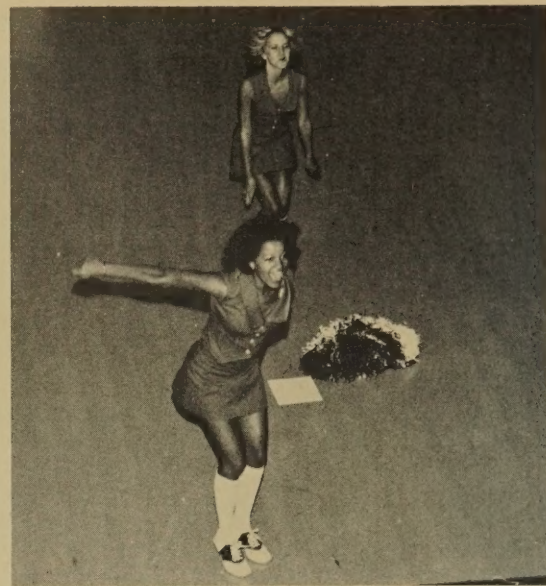

Sophomores came out this year with a bang. Maybe seniors have louder voices but the class of '79 never gave up. Lester Peters and Al Hagey lead the class on as Teresa Drewry shows her silent approval.

You rarely, if ever, see an expression like this on Harold Taylor's face.

The gym is quiet. 24 girls dressed in red and white step out and in unison yell, "Have you got that spirit?" The result comes after a moment of silence "YEA MAN!"

In the art room, you're known for artistic ability. Karen Young, one of the schools many artists, is taking time out from inks, clay, and chalk so she can think for awhile.

CHANGING YEAR OF '77

'76 had a lot to look back on, being the Bicentennial and all. Still, the year '77 will always be remembered, not as the recovery of the country's senses, but as the year of changes for F.C.H.S.

The seniors kissed goodbye to the privilege of breaking the lunch line. They were still allowed to leave early for lunch but it's still not the same.

We saw the disappearance of the warning bell, leaving us still in the hall talking to our friends when the final bell rang. Morning was not the same without those few homeroom minutes where we talked to our fellow last name friends.

There were the good changes too, like all the assemblies to miss class, lockers were by your 4th class instead of homeroom, and there were 14 instead of 10 cheerleaders to lead us in yells at the games.

Still, there are the things that never change. Students still find it possible to slip under the schools nose and head for Buddy Burgers, they still slip their cars into the teachers parking lot, and the halls are still cluttered up with posters advertising everything from the Friday night game to the FBLA walkathon.

The Homecoming dance, and Prom are still the big events but this year a Christmas dance added to the Holiday charm, and a Homecoming parade set off the big weekend.

Yes, 76-77 was the year for change, some good, some bad. We've been through the Good, Bad, and the Ugly as the song says. We hope that for everyone, the good times of the year stand out over the bad, and we say good-bye to the changing year of '77.

The second hand moves ever so slowly, seeming never to reach 3:15. Finally, the bell rings, jarring you out of your senses. SCHOOLS OUT! Through six periods you have waited. What for? To sit around, watching the buses pull out, talking to friends, and relaxing from a hard days work.

Who said Public Speaking had to be boring?

Happiness

Is . . .

What is Fall? It's working all day to gather up leaves in the yard, just to have your little brother and six friends leap into and scatter them out again. It's giving up shorts and tees for Levis and flannel shirts. But most of all, its school. As August winds down, your friends groan about coming back to jail, as they call it.

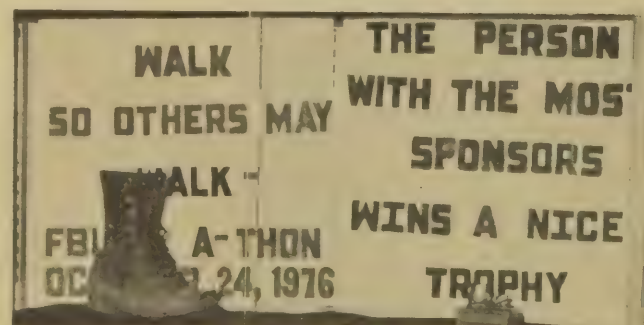

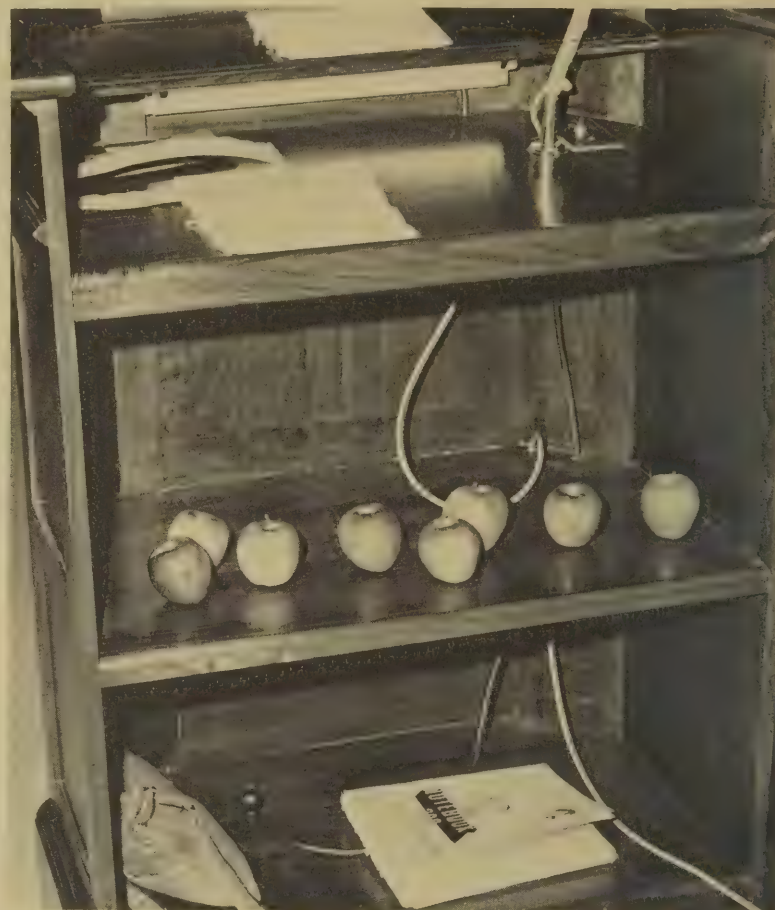

Girls still curled their hair but instead of pressing their cotton dresses, they're checking their earth shoes and painter pants for spots. Boys are doing the same.

After the first few days, things start to settle down. Sophomores no longer wander about being lost from their classes.

Football fever sets in as fans look forward to the first game. Five games in a row, five games to cheer at, five chances to see our players dance across the goal.

Then the next thing you know, its time for homecoming. Girls run around for weeks trying to get a date, just to have the boy ask them the night before. An assembly sets the weekend off with spirit and enthusiasm! The first parade was set and classes worked to make a winning float. Cheerleaders covered trucks with pom-poms and banners then braved the cold wind, singing V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! The spell worked because we won the game. When half time came, ten girls wait for their time to walk out on to the field, four of them hoping that they'll be the one to wear the tiny crown.

On Saturday, twenty-four tired cheerleaders gathered at the gym, ready to turn a basketball court, into a dance floor dream. Boxes of crepe paper were draped at any possible place, even if it meant standing on top of an old ladder, with Apesnot jumping on it. Then Monday came around, and school was filled with talks of dates, dinner, and those girls who stayed at home, started looking and hoping for next year. Boys started saving up again.

Out-Of-Class

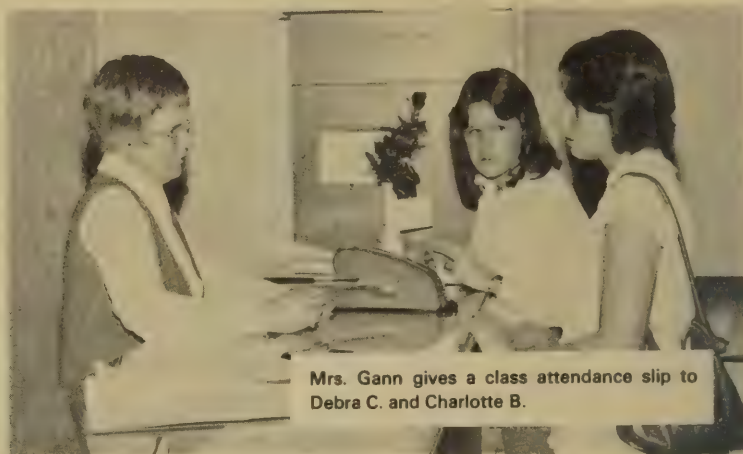

"I think I am the luckiest dog in the world. I have over 1,200 owners, I have plenty of food; there's a never ending list of things for me to do.

In the morning, I wait for my pal Curtis to come and open the school. After I check things out, my friends start to come in. If the FCA is meeting, I can go there, or else I can go to the smoking area where there are lots of people. At 9:00 I have a wide class range to check out. After I find a class that suits my preference I catch up on my sleep. Until third period when I'm out practicing with the band, it sure is fun chasing the flags. Then it's lunch time, I'll wait at the smoking area and people are always bringing me food, I always wait for the mailman to come, for some reason I don't like him and every day I chase him and his car out of my parking lot. After school, there's lots of practices going on. Sometimes I get in the way but that's part of my job.

They are always expecting me to do things, like ride in parades and walk in CROP walks. But I can't afford to leave the school for long, something might happen while I'm gone.

Yep, I think I'm pretty lucky, and I wouldn't trade Places with RinTinTin."

It was once making a weather vane for your science class, now it's dissecting a cat in Biology. My summer in 100 words or more is now my opinion of English Literature during the turn of the century. Duck-duck-goose has progressed into a volley ball match and instead of drawing the tree outside your class window, you're drawing the one outside the Fine Arts building window. Some things never change.

The thought of academics brings to mind a darkened classroom, shades pulled at different levels with chalk dust settling on the eraser racks. A teacher droning on about so-and-so who lived back in so-and-so adds to the scene. There will always be a class like this somewhere and you're bound to come across this kind of teacher somewhere in your lifetime sentence of education. But the teachers have their problems too. Its hard to teach the beauty of poetry when the girl in the back of the room is reading a shocking pink book with "THE WICKED HEARTS DESIRE" written across it.

A teacher, a class, some smart students, some not so smart, a blackboard with DO NOT ERASE to look at, and a desk with green chewing gum to sit on — its all academics, and it always will be.

Classes — that's the thing that spoils all the fun. Before and after school and between classes are the only thing that keep you from going crazy every day. Lunch is a different kind of break where you can go outside for a game of tag or stay in the cafeteria and eat or talk to friends, but there is no way of getting around going to class. Study Hall, Band, and P.E. are a few of the interesting classes. Let's face it, classes are here to stay.

A Game of Tag Has Changed

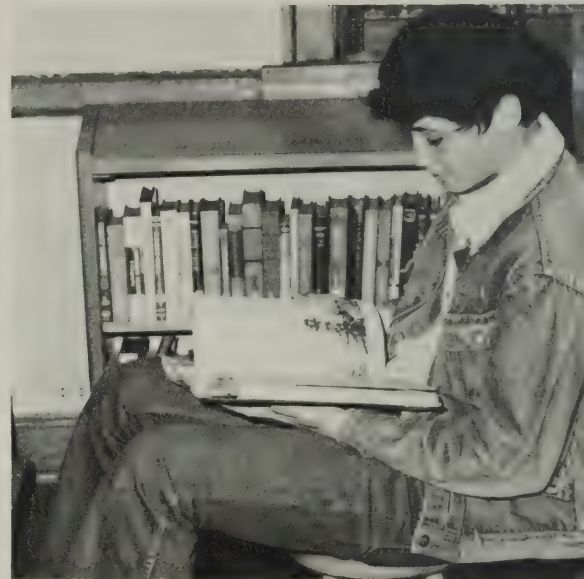

It seems like thousands of years ago that you entered the first grade. Those flashcards with big, red apples on them that represented A's and fat pencils with no erasers, that you hated because they made you feel like a baby and you couldn't erase those S's that you accidentally made backwards, were a part of everyone's first school years. The favorite part of everyone's day was "play-period". All the kids (including yourself) loved the opportunity to get new clothes, that your mother had just bought, dirty as you could. You knew she would have a fit when you got home, but you didn't care as everybody else was doing it. Boys ran around pulling girl's hair. The girls gathered up in a corner to talk about how mean the boys were, but when the teacher announced it was time to go inside and do "arithmetic", boys and girls alike, all thought the same thing: "I HATE arithmetic!"

Play period has developed over years into physical education and arithmetic has changed to algebra and geometry for most people. Instead of softball with a plastic bat and a big plastic ball, everyone strenuously tries to excel on all their physical fitness tests, and instead of learning to count to a hundred, geometry proofs and algebraic equations are studied. Those are just a few examples of the way classes have changed, but they do apply to most people.

There are a wide variety of clubs. The members come in all kinds of shapes and sizes, yet one thing they have in common is that they all share a bond that brings them together as a group.

Remember when you were little and the one thing you wanted most in the world was to be in a certain group—the one that all the big guys were in. Even if they didn't have a name, they did everything together and you wanted to do those things, too. Never did you dream that one day those same older guys would be making you push a peanut down the hall, with your nose, for the Varsity club initiation, and where at one time you bragged about being able to count to ten in Spanish, now you're going to elementary school again, teaching little kids the same thing so they can brag about it.

Clubs provide a way to express your interests. They help expand leadership, besides giving you an excuse to get out of class.

Future Homemakers of America is the national organization for girls and boys studying homemaking in high school. As an integral part of the homemaking program, FHA provides opportunities for students to have additional experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

Future Homemakers became more aware of their important role as homemakers and the importance of making wise decisions to prepare them for the future, through the programs of the local chapter.

Some of the activities sponsored by the club including Teacher Appreciation Day and the Fall Festival which is always well attended.

The Bible Club is a volunteer study group that meets twice a week. It is a interdenominational group, so anyone can join. The purpose of the club is to read and study passages from the Bible, to worship and share each other's faith and problems with the guidance of the Lord. Having begun in January of 1974, the Bible Club is now three year's old and going strong. We are under the Leadership of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. The goals of the group are to follow the Great Commission found in the New Testament, Mark 16:15 which says: "And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

Romans 8:28: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose."

Matthew 6:33: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Proverbs 3:6: "In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

Philippians 4:13: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Romans 10:9: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

Hebrews 13:8: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever."

With the help of Mr. Webb, his guitar, and different guest speakers, the meetings were a hit with the students.

During the year, F.C.A. visited different churches throughout the county, at least one Sunday a month. During Christmas, they went carolling and for their enjoyment, planned a party.

With the help of their leaders, the F.C.A. has gained the respect and appreciation of the students as a club.

Service, Education

One of the basic policies of the FBLA is to develop competent business leadership and to keep all members informed about current policies, practices, and procedures in National and State FBLA work. In October a walk-a-thon was held to raise money for the March of Dimes at which time a large amount of money was raised. FBLA members entered Regional and State competition.

Future Farmers Of America Participate

This year's FFA, has participated in many community and school projects. With a purpose to strengthen instruction for vocational students, the Franklin County chapter of the Future Farmers of America entered and placed in many local agricultural related events. The sponsors of the club, Mr. D.E. Hylton, Mr. L.H. Hylton, and Mr. A.E. Williams were assisted by the President of the club, Nathan Mason. Besides their annual Citrus Fruit Sale and participation in the Christmas Parade, the FFA attended numerous conferences and camps.

As To Some Of The Things We Had To Do

Dave Goodpasture, Mike Whittaker, Ellen Caskey, and Al Hagy (Zeus) ride on the Latin Club float in the Homecoming Parade.

"Societas Latina" or Latin Club is a chapter of the Junior Classical League. It encourages young people to develop an interest in and appreciation for the civilization, language, literature, and art of ancient Rome and Greece. JCL also gives the members an understanding of the depth of our own culture to that of classical antiquity.

This year, Latin Club members often visited Lee M. Waid Elementary School and worked with youngsters, preparing them for high school when they have the opportunity to take Latin and given them a background for the class. The Roman Banquet is also an important event during the year, as well as initiations of new members.

The F.C.H.S. choirs were busy with various activities throughout the year. The chorale, a selected group, are honored by singing for a variety of engagements including faculty banquets, pageants, church revivals, and school activities. A highlight during the year was state and local competitions, as well as the Christmas and Spring Concerts performed annually.

Although a lot of hard work is involved, an atmosphere of warmth, happiness, and achievement was always present.

As a part of their daily routine, Lynette Gibson and Kasandra Mattox spend a few moments of their time filing music in the music room.

The Concert Choir Spreading Music

The Concert Choir takes time out of their busy schedule to wave good-bye before leaving for a District Festival. Their plans include a record comparable to those received in the past.

The boy's quartet consists of Kenneth Fuller, Charles Renick, Curtis Flora, Eddie Hodges and their pianist Cindy Wimmer.

"Presenting the pride of Southwest Virginia." If you were present for the half time shows this may have been how you heard the Franklin County High School Band introduced. The band definitely had a new look with the addition of rifles and ten foot flags. More important than the outward appearance of the band was the inner enthusiasm and desire to win which the band members seemed to possess. You may be wondering what made the difference. Much of the praise goes to Mr. Fred E. Cameron who came to us with high hopes and believing that this band had great potential. He believed in the band when no one else did and with that kind of support how could they fail? The long hours of practice that the band, flag corp and majorettes put in paid off, as they went undefeated in half-time competition. Plans for next year's band have already been put into motions and all are anxiously looking forward to an even greater year. Each band member is commended for a job well done!

The Many Aspects of Band Life

Karen Dinwiddie and Charles Payne discuss the day at Rockingham while stopped for supper.

Being a band member is more than just each individual playing their part or performing their portion of the show. It also consists of listening to the other people and complimenting what they're doing. The band is like a big family, each member sharing with the other, not only band but personal things. Being a member of the band is a great growing experience because you learn to work, laugh, goof-off and even cry together. I only wish that everyone could know the feelings I've had as a band member and experience what it's like belonging to such a tremendous group.

Emotions ran high and nerves were on edge as we waited to perform the show we had practiced so long to perfect.

The FCHS Eagle Band came on field with their heads held high as they performed for the Patrick Henry Band.

The crowd seemed to enjoy the music and the drills performed by the band while in the stands.

FCHS Band Moves On!

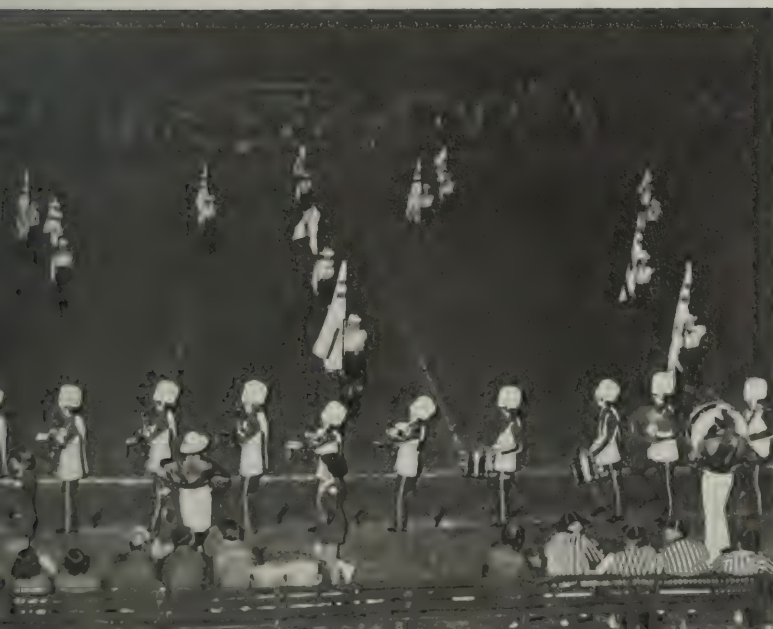

After ending the show with a slam of the flags, the FCHS Band stands posed for the judges.

Listen to the music — of the pep band!

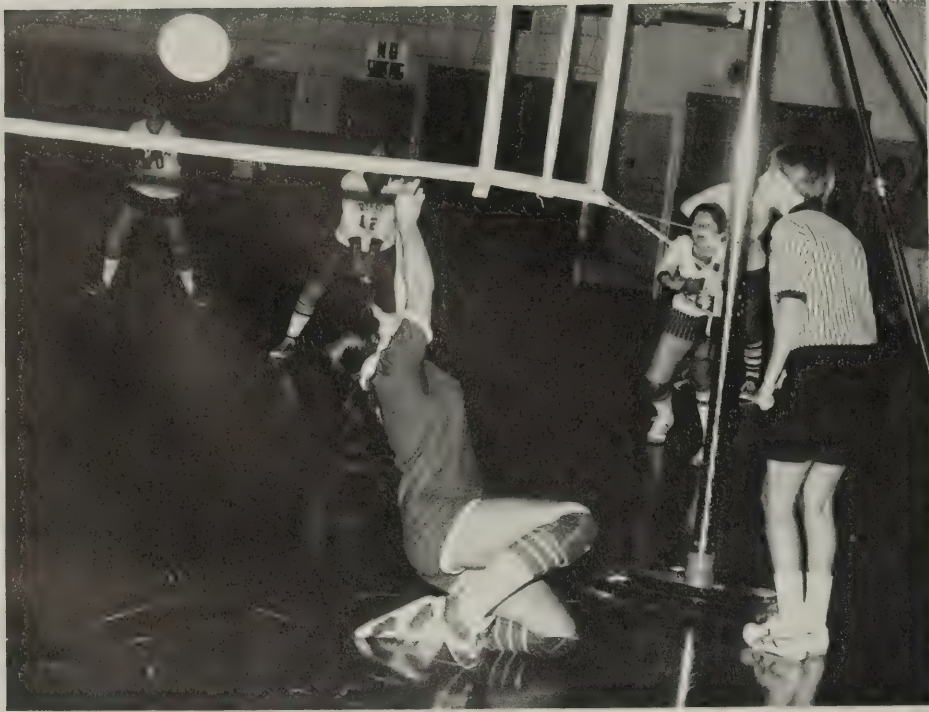

After a great performance the Eagles strut off field.

Section heads and officers laid foundation for our progressive band.

Everyone enjoys the game, in his own way.

We saw an eighty-five pound girl dominate the trails of the gymnastic world. Girls gasped as they watched Bruce Jenner's form hurl the javelin while for the boys, Dorothy Hamill gliding on the ice was their attraction. We saw these national super-stars triumph and at the same time, we saw our own athletes achieve their own personal goals.

Every sports team from all the powerful, muscle-bound football team, to the feminine, graceful gymnastic girls had some accomplishment to boast about. Not every player was recognized for his or her accomplishments but the personal satisfaction of knowing you've played your best somehow helps you forget that the newspaper misspelled your last name. The memories of this year in sports will never be forgotten. As the Sports show says . . . "The thrill of victory and the agony of defeat." Every person involved in sports knows what that means. Fans and athlete both. Bonita's powerful spike, Harold's calculated shots, and Mimi's quick flips on the mats help us to realize that Franklin County is lucky in the sports field. These are just a few of our stars. There are many more, each of them deserving the red and white jacket proclaiming them as a sports jock.

Robert Edwards adds more yardage to his record as he dodges the Halifax defense.

Football is an exciting sport. It's exciting whether or not your team runs under the goal posts more than the other team does, whether or not you've ever posted a player on an all-star roster, or whether you win or lose. It's the activity, the involvement, the emotional upheaval that makes it worthwhile.

While we sat in our air-conditioned rooms, listening to the stereo and sipping cold lemonade, the team was up on the track field, working in the hot August sun. In the 67 practices, the team ran 68 laps around the track (which is equal to 17 miles), 63 agility drills, 248 50 yard windsprints amounting to 37,200 ft. which would be the same as running up Mt. Everest and back one-fourth of the way down. The team worked extra hard this year and it shows in their efforts.

Players and coaches enjoyed their pre-game meals.

Volleyball Team Post 5-5 Record

Volleyball became more popular this year. Emphasis was placed on how to increase school spirit among the faculty, the students, and even the community. This spread to the volleyball team and caused more enthusiasm at the games. One game, against William Fleming, was played during the school day with one hundred percent participation from the students.

The girls who played this year were more equally balanced in their ability. Skills and ability were improved with a week long stay at a camp in Port Jervis, New York. Playing the two top teams in the beginning of the season, the girls worked hard and tied for third in the district.

Enthusiasm For Cross Country Transcends

"... he shall run and not be weary, he shall walk and shall not faint..." Those words have haunted ears and imaginations of men for centuries and decades of centuries since the Prophet Isaiah proclaimed them for the young men who wait upon the Lord; and so it seems. For men run. They run hard. They strain and pull till it seems that every fiber of their being is crying in agony; the agony of over extended ability, and they hurt. A hurt so strong that comprehension is lost, so strong that they vow to never again run. But the morrow comes, and with it, new strength. New strength to run faster and harder and longer than before! — So continues the cycle — the race never ended — the race never slowing — the run ever faster — till we shall run no more.

So Why Run?

Don't ask me — ask a cross country runner. There is very little honor or glory involved; at least not enough to warrant the effort required. It's amazing that anyone is willing to run for the menial reward, much less to do well.

That is how our Cross Country team did perform — well. Very well, in fact. Our pride in a team that over came the adversities of being under-trained, under coached, and under experienced should be jubilant.

The Cross Country team, looks forward to next year with anticipation of excellence, and do hope that their enthusiasm for the sport may transcend the levels of students and faculty indifference, and create the spirit of unity within this school.

Excitement . . .

The Franklin County Cagers really showed their stuff this year after a bleak season last year. Winning six games in a row, the Eagles lost a close one to Pulaski. Pulling themselves together, they whipped past Allegany 70-48 and then ran over Christiansburg 80-68. Next the Eagles slipped by Lord Botetourt and faced their second district team — Cave Spring. Somehow, through teamwork, they came from behind and won 49-47.

The excitement brought on by the Eagles was tremendous. Fans supported them to no end. And the fans got the excitement they were looking for. Alvin McEnheimer and John Burrus were leading scorers. The fans also saw the speedy Eagles do some high jumping and a couple of dunks. At just about every away game, the Franklin side was almost always full. All we can say is keep up the excellent work and keep on winning!

Alvin McEnheimer gets through the colts defense to add two on to the score.

Eyeing the basket to calculate a clean shot, Ricky Grey leaps into the air to deliver the ball through the net.

John Burrus covers the court in long strides to deliver the ball to the Eagle basket.

Coiled up and ready to spring, Ivy Cook gets ready to shoot as Reggie Young rushes to the action.

Weaving up to the ball, Alan West reaches in to stop a two point addition to the opponents score.

The JV squad proved that next year will be a very promising season. The young Eagles raced over their opposing teams with an admirable winning season. They stuck together when things got rough. They were given lots of support also by the fans who came out early to watch them play. The young cagers practically dribbled the ball down their opponents throats, especially against Lord Botetourt, who they beat by 42 points! But sometimes they had to work extra hard. For example—Cave Spring. After being behind at the half, the young Eagles kept up the pace and Harold Taylor made a basket with about four seconds left which ended the game. Excitement like this made you feel that you got your money's worth — and more.

Forgetting the hand in the way, Harold Taylor manages to get into the air and set the ball in a flight to the basket.

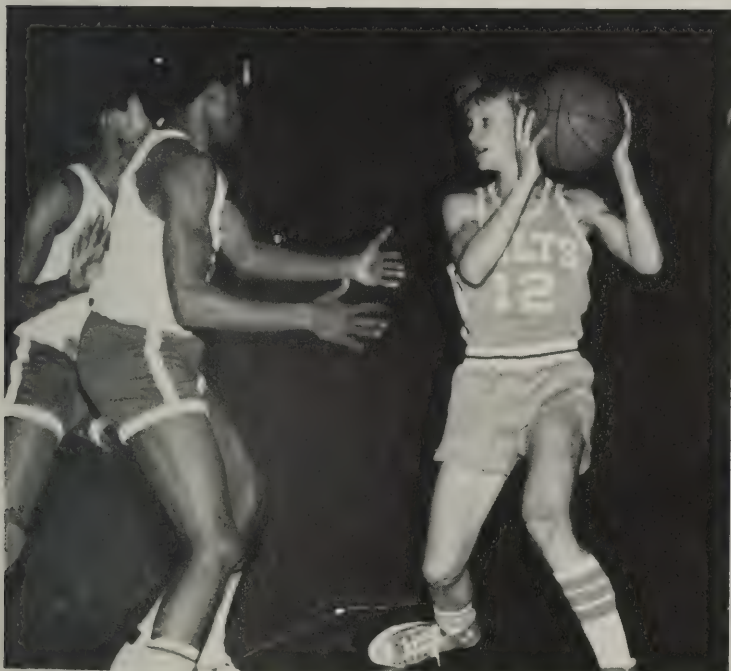

Once the ball is secure in Daniel Boones' hands, the colts head for their positions to try and defend from the Eagles rising score.

David Gaubatz triumphs again.

The 1976-1977 Franklin County Wrestling Team had many happy and exciting times while suffering through the many disappointments of a 1-10 season. Despite the bad weather, tough schedule, and demands made of any wrestling team, fifteen young men hung together and met this challenge. Our greatest satisfaction comes from knowing that they never gave up and fought 'til the end.

The accomplishments they had were individual, yet reflected the spirit of the entire team. Ricky Boitnott, a sophomore and first year wrestler, was runner-up in the Big Orange Tournament at Wm. Byrd High School. Dave Gaubatz continued to wrestle well and placed third in the district tournament along with sophomore Tony Helms. These two men, with William Martin and Ronnie Robertson, also represented Franklin Co. in the regional tournament.

With a very young team and a dismal past, the wrestlers are already looking forward to next season. Everyone is dedicated to improvement.

We Shake 'Em Up

Springtime is known for track, tennis, and baseball. For every hopeful girl, it's the time for cheerleading tryouts. The tension, hope and fear all becomes real when your name is called and you have to get up on the stage and do the cheer you've practiced a million times once more, except this time there are judges out there, not your dog or mom. The feeling is of sheer terror but once you get over the first shakey "READY O.K." the feeling leaves you and suddenly you're up there cheering away, not caring about anything but what you're doing. After a few Hurkeys and pointed toe leaps, you manage to make it back to your chair, hoping that the judges overlooked the knocking knees.

Going home you keep telling yourself that you didn't make it, but you still jump everytime the phone rings. Then the call comes. You made it!

Some people think cheerleading is an easy job but it's not. Being a cheerleader means standing in freezing rain for hours at a time, it means knocking at a door just to have it slammed in your face with a voice saying, "Don't want no donuts." It's no fun making cookies for the teams just to have them thrown out the window of the bus, and it's a pain staying up late at night making a locker sign for some forgotten athlete just to find it on the floor later. But it's done. Every team receives a warm "good luck", and they appreciate it. Without the cheerleaders our school would be a dull place.

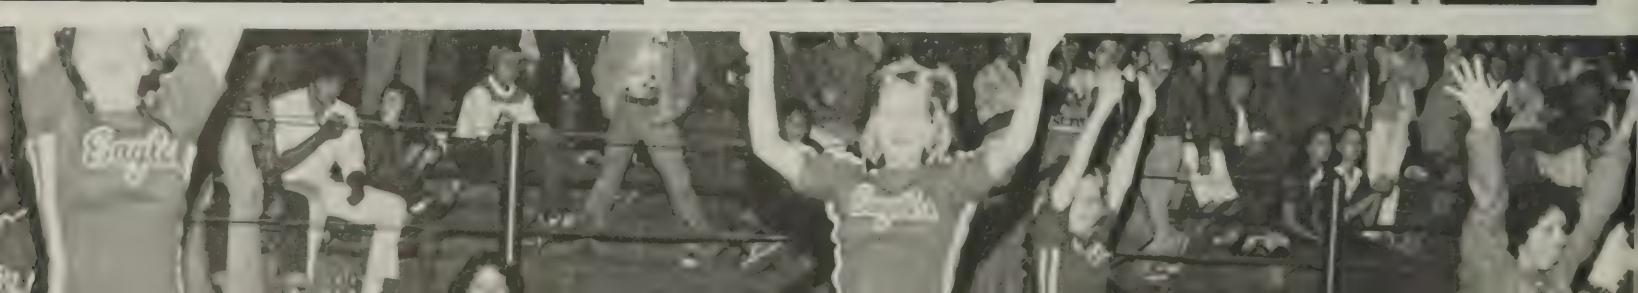

Tryouts take a lot out of a cheerleader. A lot of sleep is lost from late games and it's not easy to get up at 7:00 to fix a dance floor, but it's all worth it, just knowing you're good enough to be a cheerleader.

Balancing on the edge of a truck, the cheerleaders yelled V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!

What is it about a pom pom that makes it so much fun to shake? Only to be shredded to pieces at a nervous cheerleaders fingertips?

A stunt adds style and a touch of class to a cheer. The cheer is one thing, but doing the stunt is another.

The Varsity captain, Dreama Brown, and Hattie Warren take time to explain what a spirit stick is.

Fran Taylor and Tanya Bennett show the Payne sportsmanship award.

Together As "1"

There are two cheering squads here at FCHS, J.V. and Varsity. Each squad has its own sponsor, Miss Walberg and Mrs. McLaughlin. Each squad has different uniforms, different cheers and different stunts. Yet with 14 girls on Varsity and 10 girls on J.V., all 24 girls are out there together during pep assemblies yelling with enthusiasm and at all games, J.V. or Varsity. It's important to work together in an activity like cheering. Ten is not as loud as 24 and it takes less time to decorate when all are working together. More important is the fact that by working together, people make more friends and this is true for everybody, not just cheerleaders.

Whatever cheerleaders do is watched by the school and they worked hard to make our school one to be proud of. They decorated our halls, made sure teams wouldn't go hungry and make our sock-hops a little more enjoyable. They deserve a big "Thank You", J.V. and Varsity.

Years from now, when you look back on your school years, it's more likely that you'll remember your locker mate more often than your locker combination. That's because our school is more than just rows of lockers in a dark hall, an old main building to learn in and a new gym to play in. It's the people in the school that makes it what it is. Classrooms don't rattle their windows, drop pencils in the heaters, or shred window shades but the people inside do.

From the time you wake up in the morning, listening to the morning voice of WSLQ, to the time you go to bed, you're in contact with people. The pal you used to swim and play with has gone his own way but now you have new friends, just as good as the old if not better.

Coming into the eighth grade was hard, you were a stranger in a new world, you know no one and loneliness welcomed you in each classroom. Where were all the friends you saw last year? Well, the loneliness soon wore off as you met a totally new set of friends, some that lived just down the road, but you never even knew they existed.

Now, while the sophomores are finally learning the ropes of the school, the juniors are waiting for their chance to be top dogs. The seniors are getting ready for their second big jump, to college and careers, leaving behind some friends, but ready to meet more.

The commercial on T.V. says people who leave impressions on your life can be preserved with pictures. Well the producers of that commercial must not have had to say goodbye to a friend. Pictures can bring on a smile in remembrance, and meeting new friends can make your future brighter, but it's the old and true friends you'll remember most.

Make new friends
but keep the old,
one is silver
and the others gold.

Administration—'77

Since that first scary day you entered the big kindergarten to the time you graduate from college, you're bound to encounter the teachers. They're easy to recognize. They're the ones who give you homework on the night of the Areosmith concert, they're the ones who use their free time to help you with logarithms, and they're the ones who give you one point to make the borderline C more secure. We think we have a pretty good teacher lineup here, and considering what they have to put up with, (smart alecks, know-it-alls, tough guys, sassy kids) we think they've done a good job.

Teachers had a special concern for their students. Many teachers related to the student by finding out more about them, their hobbies, jobs and families. In this way, teachers and students talked to each other on a one-to-one basis and learned to know and respect each other much more. We have our parents who get hyper and force our ambitions to return. What do the teachers do when they get weary? Both sides always get energetic toward May even if we're all bored out of our minds.

Could a teacher be a friend? A friend was someone who cared and was there when he was needed. As many students found, teachers could fulfill these requirements.

To some extent teachers had to be friends. A certain amount of communication had to take place between teachers and students. When questions and problems arose, discussions with the teacher were usually the best way to resolve the conflict.

Study halls are great for catching up on sleep. The people that think study halls were made for studying are crazy. All some students do is sleep. Still I'm glad we have it, otherwise I'd be napping in most of my classes. That's right. From Building Blocks To Diplomas

The big year for Seniors is finally here. They've all had many experiences throughout their long, drawnout days of school. They advanced from blocks and apples with worms, to the girls chasing the boys and the boys sticking the little girl's pony tails in the glue. As they continued, they progressed to trading a peanut butter and jelly sandwich for a tuna fish, to the 8th grade when they prayed they would be able to find their way around the Junior High. Finally, the last two years were spent showing off new class rings with the year 1977 plainly in sight; to, last, but not least, government books, senior portraits, and shaking hands with good ole Mr. Hubbard for the last time on graduation day. These are just a few of the things through which most Seniors have gone. There are many good memories of standing in the hall talking to friends until the last sixty seconds before the bell rings, then zooming to the next class. Of course there are a few bad memories of getting caught at skipping and the teacher finding out who put the tack in her seat.

Those twelve years seemed to never end, but as in everything else, they finally did. One must agree that the class of '77 has done a fine job of making the best of everything!

A year of changes and challenges described Mrs. Foley's feelings toward her first year as sponsor of the Senior Class. But most of all, it was a great honor to have been asked to work with the class of 77, and I know that I will see the seniors emerge in June as the "best yet."

Senior Class Officers

Find His Identity

David Coffey — Bus Driver

OH, No It's A Mack Truck!

Franklin County may not seem so big, but at 7:30 in the morning, with twenty screaming kids collected from one end of the county to the other, it seems like 2,000 miles. David Coffey is one of the substitute student bus drivers, and he performs this job almost every week.

Driving a school bus is not an easy job; it's manipulating a gigantic machine through small country roads, refereeing fights, and putting up with inevitable end-of-the-year water guns.

It takes a staunch individual to drive a school bus past an oncoming Mack Truck with only 6 inches to spare.

David is just one of the drivers, but he's one of the best and he actually seems to enjoy his work.

Mrs. Layman joins students in a day of fun for Halloween.

If you have ever been to the armory on a Wednesday night, you may have seen Gary Cooper, clad in white pajamas screaming his head off. (Don't be afraid, he's sane) What he was doing was KATA, a formal exercise that the students of karate go through in order to prepare themselves for a nights workout.

Gary has progressed from white to gold and now holds a green belt, which means that he is a serious student. He has been taking lessons for a year and a half, and anticipates achieving a black belt in a year.

Gary Cooper — "Artist by day, Karate expert by night."

Don't try to classify all the different categories under one name. They are divided into different groups such as Tikwando (which is an oriental art), Kung Fu (a form of meditation and tension), Hap-ki-do (a Korean form of self-defense).

We asked Gary if he could break boards and flip people, his reply was, "Yes, but I'm afraid to try cement." (Don't worry, we would be afraid to try cement, also).

So the next time you're walking down a dark alley, take Gary with you, he's a lot handier than a stick.

Players Make Metro

After every Baseball season there is a team comprised of all the best baseball players, from all over our district. We were fortunate to have one of our players chosen for this team, while two others were chosen for the second team.

Harold Brown, Chuck Martin, and Abe Naff were chosen by the coaches for Metro. Harold Brown, who made the first team, is our pitcher. Chuck plays first base and bats .355, while Abe is our catcher and bats .350. They were chosen for the second team.

I asked Abe "What does it mean to have this honor?" His reply was, "You don't go off and play any special teams; it's just an honor given to you by the coaches."

Our Baseball record was 12-3 and with a little luck this year we will be No. 1.

One Plus One Equals One

Can you imagine what it would be like not to have to worry about having a best friend, a playmate or even someone to talk with? Regina and Reggie Young have been fortunate never having this problem. They are twins.

You would think that twins would be very close, but, it's the same as having a brother or a sister. We asked Regina what it feels like to be a twin. "It's really not as big as it seems. It is just like having a brother. It's been fun always having someone to talk with and not really having to worry about an age difference." I asked Reggie if he ever has any problems. "No, not really, it's kind of fun."

Sometimes I imagine it feels kind of weird walking in to a new class and seeing your brother or sister's bright shining face, but that's life!

Our Bicentennial Contribution

This summer while we were enjoying the sun Sarah Parcell, John Burrus, and Lee Firebaugh were performing in front of the Queen of England. Of course, they were not alone but with the help of many other band members from Virginia, they seem to have been a hit.

The Virginia Bicentennial band (an original name) toured Philadelphia, Alexandra and Washington, D.C.

Not all of it was hard work. They met many different people, some famous. They enjoyed Fried Chicken dinners, but they also endured the scorching hot sun. It was more work than play.

All things considered, the three think the work was worth while and are looking forward to an invitation to the Rose Bowl in 1977.

You Should Be Dancing

What first comes to your mind when you think of ballet? Dancing? Grace and pose or as some boys might say, girls? Well, if you think that's all that is involved in ballet just ask Cheri Turner her opinion.

Cheri has been interested in dancing all of her life but has only taken it seriously since the eighth grade. With four years of lessons she has performed in different types of categories such as Classical Ballet, Jazz, Tap and some Modern and Ethnic Ballet.

We asked her if she wanted to become a professional dancer and her reply was: "Yes, I'd like to dance professionally in a small ballet or a Jazz troupe. I'm also interested in doing choreography for some Broadway Productions. Eventually I'd like to open my own dance school, preferably just Franco-Russian Ballet, and try to help those kids that began late in life like I did. It's a grueling, competitive, demanding profession, but I LOVE IT."

The Little Drummer Boy

One of the most important parts of the band was the sound system. Without it, the singers and instruments would be nothing. Dennis Mitchell held this job for the popular group, Helicopter. His brother was the drummer for the band and because of this, Dennis was able to travel with the band, watching, learning, and asking about the working of the sound system.

The group played for our school several times and they played the top 40 songs. If you listen to this type of music enough, you soon appreciate the importance of a good sound system. Dennis has also played the drums and bass guitar. He has stayed up till 4:00 some nights practicing with the band.

So next time you go to a concert, take time to listen to the sound of the music. You will soon appreciate all the hard work that goes on behind the scenes.

The Records She Makes Are Not LPs

Last spring, if you wandered up on the track after school, you may have spotted Brenda Perdue practicing for the 440. Last year Brenda qualified for the state meet. Even though she did not win she put forth her best effort of 62.4, breaking the schools record earlier set by Connie Newbill.

This was not Brenda's first year at state. In her sophomore year she and three other girls went to state in the 880 yard medley. In the regionals the team broke the school record.

Although Brenda has proven that she can do well at the long distances she also shows surprising quickness and agility of a short distance runner.

At last years spring banquets, Brenda was presented the most valuable player award.

With a school of 1,400 people, it's hard to keep the halls clean, but with people like Reggie Young the job gets done.

Glen Holcomb is engrossed in his art work.

Great Deal, But Much Is Yet To Come

In their final year of high school, Seniors have had many new experiences, but they were nothing compared to the ones in the years ahead. Whether work, college, or marriage, they'll all have plans to work out and decisions to make. Whatever is in the future for them, the Senior class will do what they can to make the best of all circumstances, as they have throughout their unforgettable years of school.

It is not how much we have, but how much we enjoy, that makes happiness. Gifted with laughter, Charlotte makes us giggle when we're down and laugh at the hurt that just will not go away.

I asked her if she had one wish for mankind what it would be. "For everyone to be happy with life," was her answer. Charlotte bounces around the halls during the day and can be seen almost anywhere at anytime. Her favorite spot during 6th period is directing advanced biology class in the dissection of a calf and even half heartedly listening to the drawn-out nine week reports.

If Charlotte can not be found in a crowd she must be in the bleachers cheering the Eagles on to another victory; always present at one game or another she helps the cheerleaders with their chants.

When Charlotte graduates with her class in '78, her face might not be present the following year, but her laughter will always ring through the halls.

California Demon

While we sat at our desk adding fractions and dissected worms in the lab, Timmy Walker was racing a thousand miles away in California. For the past five years Timmy has been racing his red and white Yamaha on Franklin County tracks.

Traveling to California means adding one more state to his list including Maryland, Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee. The Mid-Atlantic region, of which we are a part includes states from Maine to Florida.

Tim places twenty-fourth among fifty contestants in California, all competing for the U.S. title.

We asked Tim if he had ever been injured during a race. "Oh yea!" Hardly a race goes by that someone doesn't get his face flattened.

Moving on Up

If someone asked you what a rook is, your reply would probably be a bird. If someone asked what a knight was, your answer might be, a person who rode around on a horse challenging others of their kind to joust. But to a chess player these names take on an entirely different meaning.

Eddie Hodges is one of our finest Chess players at FCHS. He knows what mistake Spasky made in the fifth game against Fisher, as well as some of us know our alphabet. Eddie has won many awards at playing chess. He ranks around 1,600 out of a possible 2,000.

Most wouldn't begin to know how to play Chess. It's supposedly an intellectual game which is very difficult to master.

One of these days when we're reading our paper we might see an article entitled Hodges defeats Fisher.

Without Some Duty.

One of the very active students in FCHS is varsity Cheerleader Delphine Witcher. Delphine is a junior and this is her first year on the cheering squad. Annual Staff member Peggy Wright interviewed Delphine recently to find out more about her experiences.

Here is what Delphine was asked: "How long did it take you to become familiar with the busy schedule?"

She replied, "I adapted to the busy schedule easily because of the experience in cheer camp."

"Were the cheers hard to learn?"

"In the beginning there was some degree of difficulty but later, I was able to perform the cheers rather easily."

"What have you learned from this experience as far as getting along with people?"

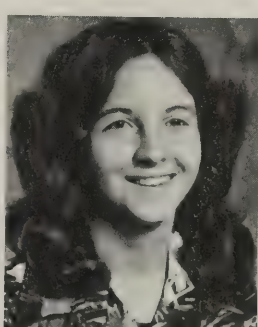

"As far as coping with the different personalities I find that people are very easy to get along with."

We are fortunate in having a talented performer, Paula Powell, at our school. When talking to Paula, I asked her if she was planning a career in Dramatics. She indicated that she hadn't made up her mind, but was considering it. Paula was cast in the role of Myrtle May in the play HARVEY and as Emily Webb in OUR TOWN.

Reactions of some of the FCHS students were good, but Diane Wright summed it up best. "She put so much feeling and emotion in her acting that you actually believed that she was that character."

The National Honor Society formerly called the Beta club, plays an important part in the extra-curricula activities at FCHS. In order to be a member one must have at least a 3.5 average plus recommendations by the faculty. One of the members of the National Honor Society, Kaye Ferguson, was very happy and excited when she was informed that she had been selected to be in the organization. "I was surprised to find that I was the only black in the Junior Class to have the complete qualifications." Kaye continues to maintain her academic average. Although her hobby is sewing, one day she hopes to have a job in Data Processing.

Sophomores Adjust

"A Year of Fun?"

To make it at any high school a sophomore must learn his lesson well.

"Sir?"

"Yes."

"Do you know where room 206 is?"

"Yeah, it's right down the hall, up the stairs, turn left at the top of the stairs and keep on going straight. You're sure to see it."

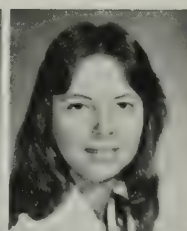

"Thank you very very much, sir."

"Oh, sure. Welcome to the good side of the campus."

"Bye"

"I ended up on the roof."

These are just a few of the sophomores go through at the beginning of the year. You learn to never trust a senior until you are one. Here you are, a sophomore. It's what you've always dreamed of; high school, the freedom, privileges, of being in the big school, thick annuals, and every thing else that high school students go through. Your sophomore year was the year of taking Driver's Education for most people. You'll always remember how scared you were to go to the armory to the DMV office and drive around the block with a strange man in your car. It was the year for advancements; homecoming dance for the first time, two-hour exams, and getting to leave lunch when you finished eating or you didn't have to go at all. Of course next year, when you're a junior, everything will probably get better, but comparing it to junior high, the first year at high school is great.

You take for granted the pretty faces of the baton twirlers; their short spangled suits make them easy targets for varied comments. Few people realize the hard work that is put into the job. For four years, Cheryl Jones has been twirling batons. In these four years, she has won over sixty trophies and over fifty medals. In the nationals she was awarded first runner-up and third runner-up in two different categories. She was mentioned in Who's Who among baton twirling. This is one case where it's not just another pretty face.

Settled at my usual spot, in the Vocational Building, pulling out my favorite harlequin romance, I plunged into the depths of desire and love.

Reaching a dull part I packed my book and turned to listen to three of my friends.

Avid wrestling fans Shearer West, Mary Torrence and Becky Woody go to a lot of matches and actually know these wrestlers personally.

I am very skeptic about wrestling but listening to them talk, I figure there must be something to it. They heard of my interest, so they invited me to a match.

I couldn't believe the people at the match. One man behind Shearer, picked up her chair and screamed obscenities at the wrestlers. Shearer, Becky and Mary confined themselves by screaming chants and talking to the wrestlers.

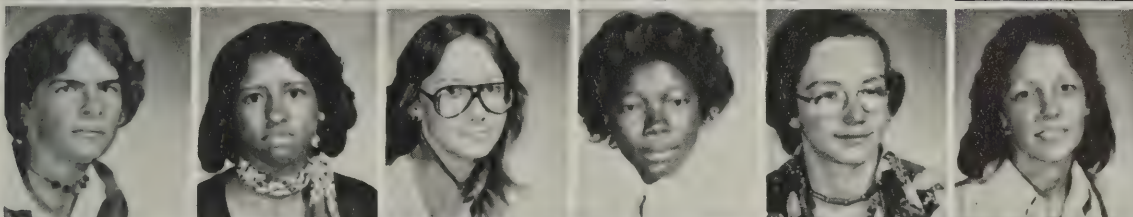

Mary's favorite is Terry Funk, Becky's is Ric Flair and Shearer's is Blackjack Mulligan.

To them they know that wrestling is faked (sometimes) but people need some sort of relaxation from the humdrum life.

Biking is one thing. Bike hiking is another. These four young men traveled about 30 miles a day in the county. They know most of the back roads and frequently take trips to the Parkway. It's not just a pastime for them it's a full time hobby. Their bikes are expensive and extra hours are spent in keeping them in top notch condition. When you see four speeding shapes zoom by, you can now identify the bikers.

"SONGS IN THE KEY OF LIFE"

Not only is that the name of Stevie Wonder's new album, but Robyn Bowles seems to go by these words too. She's taken piano for seven years; the last two years from our own Mr. John Moore. Robyn is her church pianist, plays at weddings, and plays piano in the FCHS stage band. Besides all those piano lessons, concerts, weddings, and church services, she finds time to play clarinet in FCHS marching and pep bands.

So when Stevie Wonder was thinking of a title for his fantastic new album, he must have had Robyn Bowles in mind.

These students can always find time in their busy schedule to play around.

Choir students begin each practice session by taking exercises for relaxation.

"Big People" Help Keep School Running

Mrs. Florella Johnson — Elementary Supervisor, Mr. Bruce Kent — Administrative Assistant, Mr. C.I. Dillon — Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Wesley Naff, Jr. — General Supervisor.

Dr. Paul Corn — Consultant for Skills Development Programs, Mr. T.A. Hartley — Supervisor of Secondary Education, Mrs. Anne Tyler — Elementary Supervisor, Mr. Morris Law — Supervisor of Secondary Education.

Off campus personnel, superintendents, and supervisors all help to keep our school systems going. Expansion became necessary as is evident of the middle school now being built. This will relieve the Jr. high and high schools of overcrowded classrooms and halls.

Secretaries— Sitting — Mrs. Peggy Love; Standing — Mrs. Georgia Wade, Mrs. Marguerite Whitmer, Mrs. Ruth Strouth.

Mr. Donald Ranson — Assistant Supervisor Operational and Auxillary Services, Mr. Cecil Doss — Supervisor of Operational and Auxillary Services, Mr. T. Wilson Slaten — Assistant Supervisor of Operational and Auxillary Services.

Students Excel In Special Talents

Sarah Parcell, Barbara Campbell, and Jeff Prillaman represented FCHS this year in the All-Regional Band for District VI in Christiansburg. These students were selected through auditions which included approximately 500 musicians from schools in District VI.

Three FCHS sophomore students were selected to attend the Governor's School for the Gifted this summer. Janet Prillaman, Melinda Bowles, and Bill Hopkins will join approximately 425 other high school students who are academically gifted or artistically talented

FCHS students who participated in the regional leadership conference include, front row: Janice Midkiff — first in sales judging; Johnny Fuller, first in job interview; Deborah Hunt — first in sales demonstration. Back row: Linda Jones — second in sales judging; Yvette Hale — second in Parliamentary procedure; Ricky Gibson, Linda Spencer, and Connie Worley

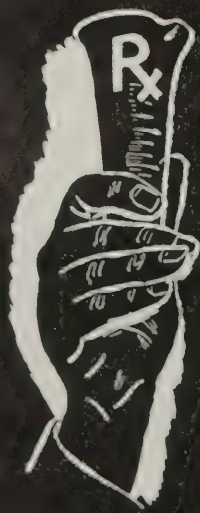

Wanda Eames, Deborah Kasey, Eddie Hodges, and Charles Renick were chosen to participate in District VI Virginia All-District High School Chorus which was held at Cave Spring High School, Roanoke, Va., in February. The Guest Conductor was Mr. Dan C. Robinson, Director of Music Education in Fulton County Schools of Atlanta, Georgia. There were thirty-one schools participating

There was always a dimestore around the corner, or a drugstore down the street. There you would wander through the aisles, gazing at plastic flower arrangements while crunching on the ice from your coke. It was common to say "Let's go down to the five-and-ten". Now, the small business stores are homes for the younger ones. You found yourself wandering down to the Minute Market instead. Saturday night there were always a few people "cruising Hugh's" and if you looked closely you could find a couple of friends in the pool halls.

When you took a girl out to eat, there was a wide choice of places to go, The House, lots of truck stops, and if you really want to splurge, one of the three Dairy Queens.

Let Roanoke talk of their pizza huts and McDonalds. They're great places for food and good times, but for the good friendly business people, look in Franklin County.

The End Is Near

Students experienced their first snow with a new sport called snowball — three hits and you're wet.

You've got five minutes to leave friend.

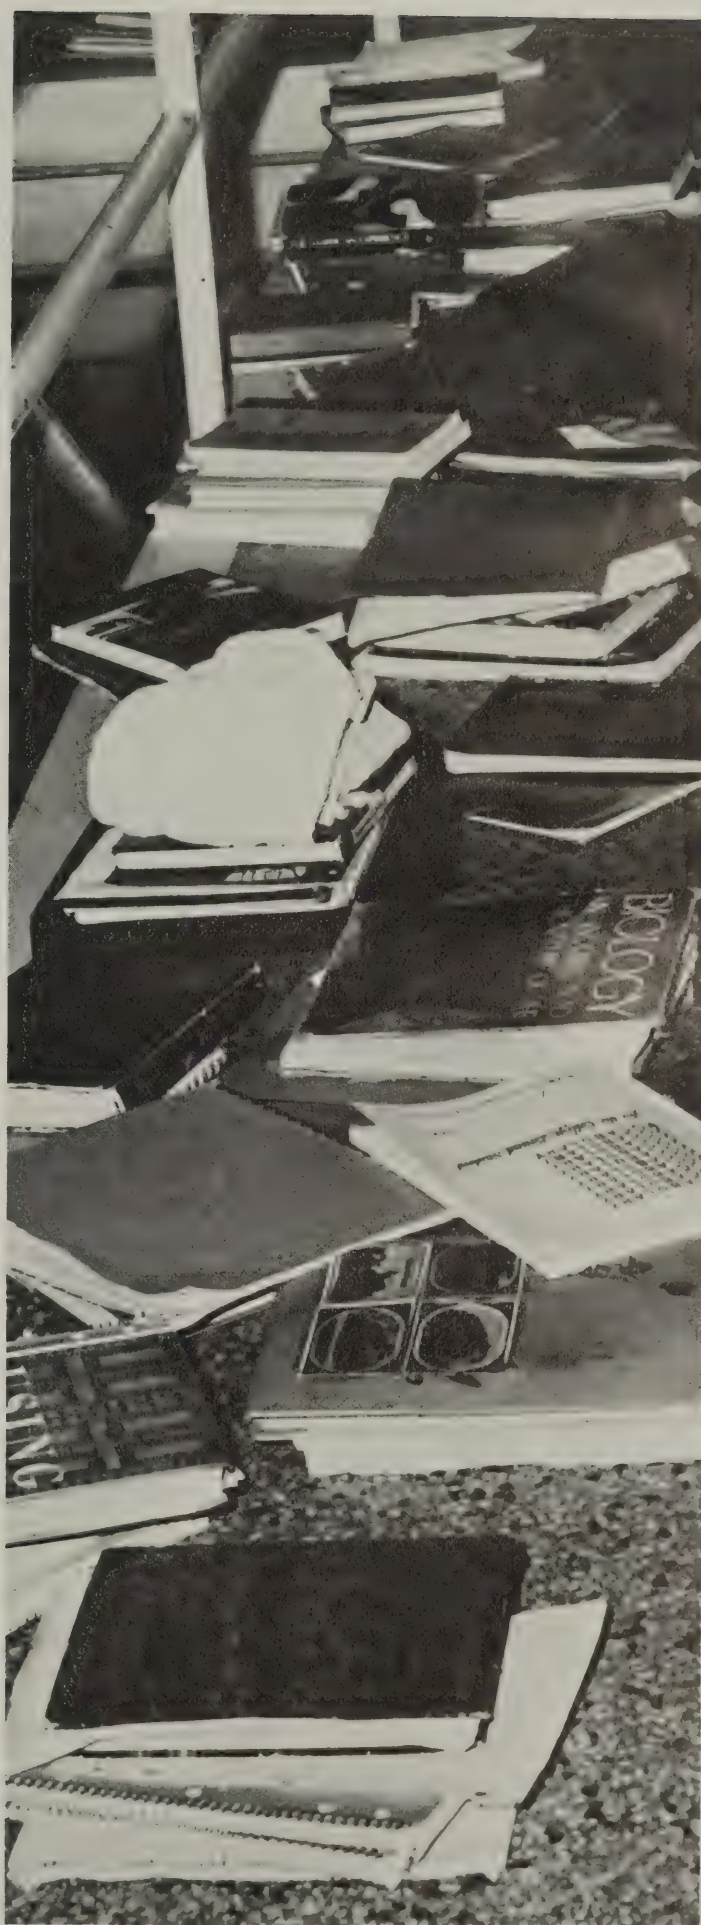

I think we are just about out of oil!

Mr. Cleveland looked for guidance on how to cook.

Who needs books? When you've got each other.

Students moved on to a pep rally.

Everybody needs a break to relax!

Mr. Hubbard was always available to offer both teachers and students assistance.

Watch your step, please!

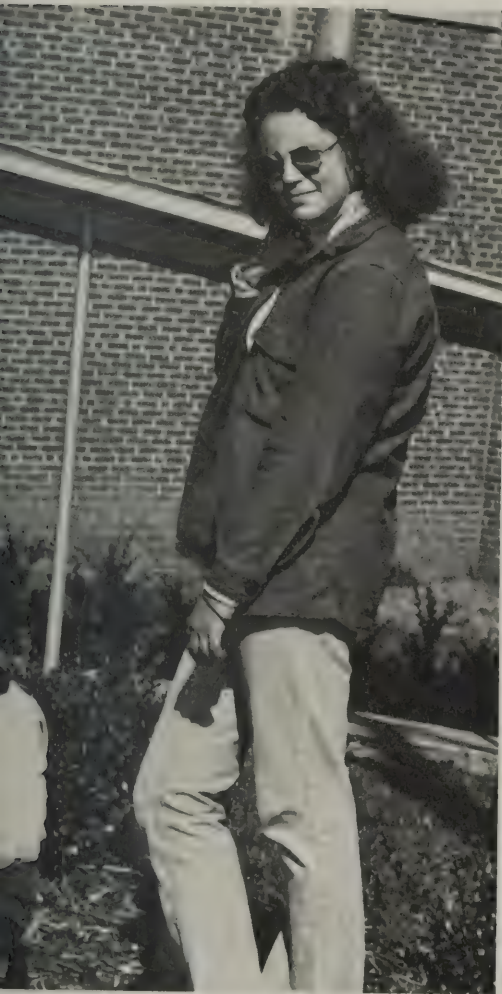

Last minute details, tests, and final good-byes closed the year with many accomplishments. It has been brought about by hard work, a lot of planning, and everyone getting involved.

Pulling together made things easier for both students and faculty. Team work was the key to success.

Happy moments, times that we shared, and memories past made student life more enjoyable. Important intervals spent in learning, studying, and wondering if you are going to make the class or fail have now all faded. For most of us, the happy and exciting moments will remain to overshadow all the hard times.

Ben Franklin did it. Why can't I?

Mr. Nichols, our school photographer, meant a lot to everyone.

Rhonda Ferguson, Floyd Furrow and Susan Gillispie kicked the habit of studying.

Friendship Improves Happiness

Friends are wonderful. Because they are always there. When you need them, they are there. When in despair, sorrow, or tears, they are there. The unexpected things they do are the greatest, the thrill of a phone call, the wonder of a visit, the willingness to share, the happy smile that helps a while and tells them "You CARE!" the little talks we share. It's these things that matter, that add up in the end To The Thrilling Magic Of A Friend! YOU!!

Thumbs up another day is over.

Bea Brown is about to show somebody who's boss.

Ava Fisher said, "Anyone for a little drink?"

Mr. Kahila came to a sliding halt on the range at the end of this year.

All good things come to an end.
